

AUTOPSY TO SHOW HOW PRIEST DIED

Pathetic Scene When Brother
Sees Body of Girl Found with Father Quinn.

ODD LETTER FOUND.

Addressed to Priest as Husband and Signed by Wife, Who Lives in Ireland.

Autopsies to be held to-day at the Bellevue Morgue will show whether illuminating gas or some other poison caused the death of the Rev. Father C. S. Quinn and his young woman companion, whose bodies were found in a furnished room at No. 225 East Eighteenth street yesterday afternoon. Father Quinn had been until recently the acting rector of St. Agnes's Church at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and his companion was Miss Bridget Kiley, formerly a housekeeper of the rectory there.

The scene at the Morgue when Michael Kiley, of No. 100 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street, a brother of the dead woman, called and identified her body affected even the old and tried attendants. He stood a few feet away from the sister's body and sobbed as a strong man does, his frame shaking convulsively.

He will attend to the burial of his sister. Nobody has made any inquiry for the body of the clergyman.

Had a Strange Career.
The many letters which were found by the coroner when the personal effects of the dead man were carefully searched disclose a strange career. While these letters have not been carefully digested and some details that have been discovered are yet not explained, Quinn seems to have forgotten every vow he took when he entered the priesthood.

He was transferred to St. Agnes's Church from Syracuse last July because of the illness of Father O'Farrell, the regular pastor. He drank to excess and used church funds which he obtained by forging the name of the sick rector, and was discharged for drinking and walking out with the pretty housekeeper.

He was removed and was living in constant anticipation of being "alienated" at the time of his sudden death.

One of the letters found would seem to indicate that he had a wife living in Ireland. This letter read:

Wife's Pathetic Letter.
"My Own Dear Husband,
To-day, darling, the 13th of July, 1906, is the saddest of all days to me, is it not dear? Dearest husband, how am I to do without you? My poor heart is almost broken, and when I think of how soon we, who have been so loving and true to each other for the last twelve months, are to be separated I do not care to live.

"Darling, though miles of earth and water be between us, we can and will be true to each other. You say, dear, in your note that you are sorry that I was sick. Well, I am sorry, too, and I make me love you any less, so you must dare to think any such thing.

"Do not do any more and truly and to-day, love, I am MAMIE, Quinn, please you my truth, to be true and faithful to my lawful and loyal and true husband, Charles Quinn, until death do us part.

There, dear, does this not satisfy my own heart? I will be true. I wrote it and will do as I say. My own darling, I will close now, as the stars blind my eyes, and I can see no more. But, dear, I want to write what I am unable to say to you, that I wish you a safe and happy journey and that you will soon come back to the little wife that will patiently await your return or a summons to go to her very own husband.

"With all my love, I am your truly wife,
MAMIE,
Had Stolen Silver.

Among the effects were also found silverware, which had apparently been stolen from various hotels and other articles bearing the name of Father O'Farrell. There was also a formidable looking slung-shot formed of a piece of rattan with one end loaded with lead. These are held at the coroner's office.

WED ON STAGE TO WIN $50 PRIZE.

Young Newburg Couple Accept
Manager Taylor's Offer and Now
Have Housekeeping Start.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Norman E. Ward and Miss Sadie E. Littlefield, popular young folks, drew a prize of $50 last night by getting married. Manager Taylor, of the Emma Bunting "Polly Primrose" company, offered the cash for a wedding as an attraction to add to his show. The young couple was snatched up. A vast crowd responded to the invitations which were sent out by Taylor. The Rev. Charles O. Haines performed the ceremony on the stage. Then a flashlight picture was made and the bride and groom were cheered.

Take Care!

If moving vans could talk they would tell some wonderful stories about out-of-date Rooms, Houses, Apartments, etc., that wise people are constantly looking for more convenient, better located and less expensive places to live, advertised "To Let" in the Sunday World.

We Have Again Added
Extra Space to the

Toy Store

Making Its Total Area
Well Beyond A Half Acre.

IT is wholly superfluous to speak of the toys themselves—you are giving us the earliest, the most satisfactory and by far the greatest toy business of our history.

The extra space gives us power to promise comfort and prompt attention even to such throngs as those of yesterday.

We have crowds here—but just as little crowding as we can manage. All the Christmas bustle and life and color and interest with no discomforts. The Toy Store (and for that matter the whole store, from basement to roof) is a good place these days for any man or woman who loves children to linger in.
